Conclusion

The women development cell has been vibrant with activities which helped the girl students to the full realization of their identity as women and to place them on an equal footing with men. Gender sensitization is the core of all activities organized by the cell. Largely due to awareness Building programmes, the campus has been relatively free from gender discrimination, harassment against women, and women's dignity and honour have been respected and upheld. The women development cell further aims to diversify its activities. More than half of the college strength is women on the campus is women. They have assumed leadership role in the day today activities of the college. The increasing role and participation of women in all aspect of education on the campus, and in the enrichment of campus life through meaningful intervention, will open us new avenues for diversification of our work. The focus of all our activities in future will be on the identity of women, on eradication of evils such dowry and early marriage through massive campaigns in the society. Squared works, Poster exhibition, publication of leaflets, invited lectures, social surveys and preparation of comprehensive reports based on Villages and Panchayath are some of the plans we have proposed for the future.

Briefly, the WDC of the college is one of the prestigious and dynamic associations. It is not merely a centre for intellectual resource. Rather, it focuses on actual, meaningful and result oriented work among the women-both as students and staff-it is this vision that distinguishes the cell from other forums. We would like to pass the message that any society which neglects its women will be incomplete, will achieve nothing worthwhile. The society comprises men and women, and they are equal partners in life.
